As we celebrate more than 50 years of NAHN, we honor the visionary nurses who had the courage to open doors, create opportunities, and ensure that Hispanic nurses and the communities we serve would have a voice. Now, it is our turn to carry their vision forward.

As president of NAHN, I invite you to join us on this journey of growth, not only yours but for those who follow. Each of us holds a key—to mentorship, leadership, advocacy, innovation, and service. The question is not simply, “What door will this key open for me?” but rather, “Whose door will I unlock?”

Together, we will honor our history while boldly building NAHN's future—one of innovation, advocacy, leadership, and commitment.

Somos NAHN. Somos la fuerza de nuestra comunidad. Together, we hold the key to our future.

Grace Grau, DNP, CRNP, AACN, FAAN

LEAD

Developing the Next Generation

Leadership is intentional at NAHN. Members are encouraged to serve on committees, lead local chapters, participate in governance, contribute to strategic initiatives, and prepare for national leadership. Along the way, you will build the confidence and skills to influence healthcare, education, and public policy.

ADVOCATE

Becoming a Stronger Advocate

As you grow, you become a stronger advocate for patients, the nursing profession, and Hispanic communities. Through legislative advocacy, public policy, workforce initiatives, and health equity efforts, you help shape a healthier future for all.

SERVE

Creating Lasting Community Impact

Translate knowledge into action by volunteering, mentoring students, supporting community outreach, conducting health screenings, promoting disease prevention, and partnering with organizations that address the social determinants of health. Service evolves from professional duty to a personal calling, leading you to your legacy.

INSPIRE

Mentoring Future Leaders

Experienced members give back by mentoring students, early-career nurses, and emerging leaders. You share your experiences, open doors for others, and cultivate a culture where every member has the opportunity to succeed.
