Dear Chairman Smith and Ranking Member Neal,

Our allied organizations which represent patients, older Americans, advocates, providers, communities of color, faith communities and consumers write to urge you to markup the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act (H.R. 4818).

In 2013, the American Medical Association recognized obesity as a complex chronic disease. Today, more than two in five American adults live with obesity and according to a 2019 study by the New England Journal of Medicine nearly one in two adults will have obesity by 2030. Obesity has become an epidemic in the United States; however, it doesn't have to be this way. Through passing the Treat and Reduce Obesity Act (TROA), Congress has the power to change the arc of this epidemic and remove barriers to comprehensive treatment and care.

TROA takes crucial steps to allow Medicare to cover FDA-approved anti-obesity medications (AOMs) and expand coverage of intensive behavioral therapy (IBT) for millions of older adults. We ask that the Ways and Means Committee take the necessary steps to push this legislation forward, ensuring access to obesity care.

This important legislation has been introduced in several Congresses on a bipartisan basis. The bill has deep support among a variety of stakeholders. The time for updating the Medicare statute is now.

Sincerely,
